

Watersports, winter sports or golfing: Sports glasses at a glance

Read on to find out more about all the features of your very own sports glasses

One major factor determines the outcome of a game: exceptional vision. Whether you're playing golf, football, tennis or hockey, good vision is essential when it comes to optimum performance and safety: If a tennis player can't follow the ball, it will affect their timing when trying to hit it. Whether you're an amateur or a pro, you need individually adapted sports glasses with UV protection. Your optician will help you figure out what kind of sports glasses you need, taking your lifestyle into account – e.g. the perfect coloured lenses for winter sports, the right sun and glare protection for watersports like sailing and surfing, or curved lenses to protect against dirt and wind, to help you see clearly right up to the edges. Find out about this and more in our summary entitled "Better vision when playing sports."
